DLA PIPER BOOSTS INVESTMENT FUNDS PRACTICE WITH NEW HIRE IN LUXEMBOURG

DLA Piper today announces the appointment of Caroline Pimpaud as counsel in its Investment Funds practice, based in Luxembourg.

Caroline has strong experience in the structuring and formation of alternative investment funds particularly within the private equity sector. Her expertise also covers funds restructurings, managed accounts and co-investment structures, secondary transactions and investment management and advisory arrangements. She also advises major private equity firms in the structuring and implementation of complex transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, group restructurings and liquidations. She joins the firm from Linklaters, where she has worked for almost ten years.

Catherine Pogorzelski, Country Managing Partner of the Luxembourg office and head of the Investment Funds practice in Luxembourg, said: "Our Investment Funds practice is having an incredibly strong year and adding someone of Caroline's calibre to our team will help to further expand our capabilities in this area and support our further growth in 2020. This can better service the needs of our global client base at a time when the continental European market is experiencing a strong development in this area."
